

Princess Grace and the Pope-

Rome- Honoured guests at the Vatican- Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco ~~was~~ were received by the Pope- for the first time since their wedding.

To mark the occasion, token gifts were exchanged- the Prince receiving the Chain of the Golden Spur- the second highest of the five Papal Orders of Chivalry. (BRINS UP)

The audience over, the Royal Pair left in stately procession, past the ranks of the famous Vatican Guards- resplendent in their blue, yellow and orange uniforms- reputed to have been designed by Michelangelo.

It was natural that the Prince and his lovely wife (~~whose romance became headline news~~), should be the centre of ~~the~~ attraction.

And only with the help of the stalwart Guards, ~~did~~ did they escape from the enthusiastic Roman crowds- ~~leaving a trail of devastation in their wake~~

"Debs" Dress Show

London: The "coming-out" ~~show~~ parade of the season - lovely debutantes strolling in Green Park during their annual Dress Show at the Berkeley Restaurant.

The collection was provided by London's "top-twelve" fashion designers with the wedding dress the favourite theme - especially with "marriage-minded" mothers. (.)

For the "debs" - party wear was the main topic - during a colourful two-day show that raised welcome funds for Britain's needy and neglected children. /

Traffic laws

"Keep the traffic moving" is the new slogan for London, and accordingly the Police can now take positive action against badly-parked cars in the congested streets. /s

Offenders were "booked" for parking offences - while new Ministry of Transport regulations allow the police to tow away cars causing an obstruction. /s

Sir John Nott-Bower, Metropolitan Police Commissioner, toured the West End to note progress. And ~~some offenders have already~~

~~been~~ been "arrested" /
