Glasgow: Scottish Open Championship

2493

21st Nov. 1957

Glasgow: Ballroom champions from all parts of the British Isles danced their way into Scottish hearts at St. Andrew's Halls... The occasion was the Annual Scottish ^{"Open"} ~~"Open"~~ Professional Dancing Championships - organised by the Daily Record... And here - the competitors are being judged in the slow fox-trot section. Off again - now - to the infectious rhythm of the Quickstep... And as ~~each~~ ^{the} couples match their twinkling feet in their own variations - the Judges (which ~~included~~ ^{included} former champions Bobby Philp of Glasgow and Wally Fryer) had a difficult task. The final choice - however, brought a hat-trick of Scottish Open victories for Mr Sonny Binick and Miss Sally Brock of London - the recent winners of the International title. ~~and London~~
