

2
News highlights

2508

Mothers in Red China

China: Happy ending to an eleven thousand mile journey by three American mothers - visiting their sons, imprisoned by the Red Chinese for alleged espionage.

They are the first parents of captive Americans to ^{enter} ~~enter~~ Communist China with the approval of the U.S. State Department.

Missile

America: The first production model of the "Bomarc" (a ground-to-air interceptor missile), rolls off the assembly lines.

Scheduled to provide a "protective umbrella" against aerial attack, this new missile has a range of three hundred miles at supersonic speed.

It can destroy a plane long before it reaches the target.

Ghana tourist trade

West Africa: With a speedy airline service from London, Ghana is building up her proud new ^{status in the} ~~status in the~~ Commonwealth by attracting tourists and commercial visitors.

Among the first to arrive was a party of British students on a working holiday. Making Accra their headquarters, they toured the ~~the~~ centres of the ^{vast} cocoa industry.

After thanking the local farmers - the students combined work and play - in a study of ~~local~~ climatic conditions.

Golden Gloves boxing

~~Go to the!~~
America: Throwing science to the wind, Walter Moll and Steve Maiorano battle for Golden Gloves fame, at Long Island.

Moll pins his hopes on ^{this} wicked bolo punch. But he can't connect...

He still can't connect...

So Maiorano keeps his head - and makes sure that Moll connects - with his chin...

Now it's Richard Rockman and Frank Beggs - coming in with a swing and a prayer.

Rockman lands first - and slams his rival on to the ropes. More heavy punishment and Frankie reaches the end of his tether.

The Ref. steps in - and Rockman goes out - the winner!