COMM
 50,000 new houses every year is the governments after war programme Scotland. These must go, these have gone and must be replaced by houses for important people like these. Overcrowding must be overcome by building 50,000 houses each year. These are the governments plans and the building trade is all for it. He is doing his best, but he need your help. Boys of 14 to 15. If you've left school here is your chance. For one or two years you can attend special building schools covering all branches of the building trade, at the same time improving you general education. Why not play your part in the building of Scotlands new homes. Learn a trade that is really going to be busy and important. Every financial encouragement will be given to those entering courses and training, including ~~maintainance~~ maintainance grants. Plans like these mean important work, 50,000 houses a year for Scotland. Boys of 14 and 15, if you have left school without planning your career, talk to you parents about building, now. Ask your old head teacher about building courses.
