~~Daisy and Joan have money to spare, watch the money beside them there. See what happens to money that's spent and what to money that's saved and lent. We'll start with Daisy, she's fashion crazy, she squanders her money on this and that on blouse, umbrella, bag and hat. Joan however is much more clever, she saves her money and lends it to. A much more sensible thing to do and what she saves the country gains in greater production of tanks and planes. If all were as selfish as Daisy appears the war would go on for years and years. Those like Joan who knows what's right and it wont be long till the ends in sight. When war is over and victory won, the hat the bag and the blouse are done, but Joan has her loan and the interest due to buy her a house and furnitute to. Now Daisy has only a brocken down brolly, even the parrott can laugh at her folly. She should have remembered it pays to lend who saved at the start and who's safe at the end.~~
