

CIRCUS TREAT FOR THE KIDDIES

Let's strike an original note and give the kiddies some inside information on a pre-war Circus. One edition out of the hundred and four newsreels we produce each year in which we put the accent on fun. It's a tonic for we grown-ups too, to refresh our minds with the pleasures of yesterday so dimmed by war. Here's a sure-fire turn by performing elephants.

A pint of shrimps or a bag of oranges always went with a visit to the circus. Now for another star turn that has the audience on its toes.

A bear with a sore head -- it's all part of the act which winds up with a flowery display of good manners.

Tumblers, Acrobats, Clowns and trapeze artists. Perfect timing and skill which has young eyes in the audience popping out like organ stops.

Polar bears under the big top give a fine display of animal antics.

Watch it son - the only thing cheap about the show are the prices of the seats. The Circus boys are really going to town.

The most pleasing way of "putting on the dog." Limehouse Tykes versus Sauchiehall Street Scotties in the Cup Final. A match where anything goes and the winners take the biscuit. Well that's it folks. We've crammed together some of the delights of the sawdust ring. Maybe it won't be so long before youngsters can take Mum and Dad to a slap-up Circus Matinee.
