R.A.F. SQUADRON TOURS U.S.A.

Members of the famous R.A.F. Pathfinders Squadron land at Mitchell's Field, Long Island, on a good-will mission to the United States. They were given a warm welcome. As the Lancasters came in, the visitors were greeted with traditional American cordiality - No. 35 Bomber Squadron will take part in the Air Force Day Celebrations on August 1st.

Recalling the song "The Badge on Your Coat" and some of the men who wore it. Most of the crews were seeing the New World for the first time but maybe they'll be greeting fellow-airmen not during the war. During the Squadron's stay in the States, many cities will be visited on a nation-wide flight.
