KIDDIES EXPRESS.

All aboard from London's Paddington Station. 300 youngsters from the city are off to seaside and sunshine at Weston-Super-Mare. First excursion of it's kind since 1939, the Kiddies Express wins whole-hearted approval from a public often critical of 1946 rail travel. On this trip, train-travelling shpwmen bring along a luggage of laughs.

And Weston-Super-Mare really went to town with a youngsters reception committee for this train load of distinguished visitors. Donkeys, pony carts and all the fun of the ~~ix~~ sands paraded in triumph for a new and gayer Pied Piper procession.

Maybe it was only a day trip. But it's one we'd like to see repeated in every seaside town.
