

T.U.C. CONGRESS

To Brighton went our industrial reporters. They came back with a bagful of Trade Union big-wigs. First, Lord and Lady Citrina. Now titled, but still the same Walter. In the closed-shop headlines is Congress President Duke of the General and Municipal workers - here with Lord Citrina.

Cine-Technicians George Elvin. Agricultural workers A.C. Dunn and railway clerks G. N. Gallie.

And the new general secretary Harold Townson, with Mrs. Townson. Now head of 7 million workers, he needs that pensive pipe. And now, pick 'em out in the portrait gallery - George Chester of Boot and Shoe; Arthur Deakin, Transport and General; Will Lawther, mineworkers; Gmley of tailoring; and George Gibson of Health Services. The heads of the "closed shop" - Britain of tomorrow.
