WORLD AT YOUR ELBOW

From Southport pictures of the £2000 professional golf tournament. More than 180 competitors took part. Meet Norman Von Nida, from Australia. He led the weere in the qualifying rounds with an average of 71.

Here is Alfred Perry, of Reddish Vale, chipping onto the green.

Charlie Whitcombe of Grews Hill, didn't have much luck with his putting. And brother Reg Whitcombe (Parkstone Golf Club) can't do any better.

A woman is drowning. To the rescue - Police Inspector Gladwell. This is what may happen almost any time. Today, our cameramen are present at a police practice life saving demonstration. During the crime wave, which is hitting Britain at the present time, the police force never know where they may be called to next. Our underwater camera tells the story of two drowning men locked in a death struggle. Sub-Divisional Inspector Horseley comes to the rescue.

Underwater rescue is but part of a policeman or policewoman's job duty. To Sgt. Deakin, it's just a routine job.
