

Princess Margaret's first visit to Paris-

300 ft

Princess Margaret makes unofficially her first visit to Paris to-day, May 28th arriving at Gare de Lyon at 9-30 from Switzerland...

Roll I

Princess Margaret coming out of sleeping car is met by British ambassador, Sir Oliver Harvey - Princess walking on the quay on her way to the car - car leaving for the British Embassy - From left to right: Lady Oliver Harvey, Princess Margaret and British ambassador Sir Oliver Harvey walking into the ~~quay~~ yard of the Embassy - different views same....

Roll II

Different views same - general view Princess' car entering the Elysee Palace - semi-view of car arriving. Princess coming out and walking up the stairs - Princess leaving the Elysee Palace - car leaving - general view Elysee Palace.

Roll III

Princess Margaret with Lady and Sir Oliver Harvey leaving the Embassy on her way to church - different views - same coming out of church on way back to the Embassy

3905
3777

Rome, May 27th 1949

30/5/49

PRINCESS MARGARET IN VENICE

From Florence, Princess Margaret, has reached Venice. Lady Harvey accompanies her.

In a gondola Princess Margaret sails through the enchanted canals of Venice. Famous churches and palaces reflect their architectural perfection into the translucent water.

Here is St. Marc's ~~square~~ basin. Every stone, every drop of water tell a story of beauty and grandeur.

St. Marc's square. The Doge's Palace. These are the scenarios that Byron described, the miracles that Ruskin celebrated.

This story is not exclusive covered on May 24th