

ANOTHER HITLER WAR LORD FOUND GUILTY

In the Curio House at Hamburg, the last major war crimes trial comes to an end. After four months of heated arguments - which at one time turned the court into a political platform, Erich von Manstein - who was to have led Hitler's invasion of Britain - is declared a war criminal. He is found guilty of causing the deaths of countless Soviet prisoners. Field Marshal von Manstein - born Fritz Lewinski - now becomes convict 938 for the next 18 years, if his sentence is confirmed.