

ROEHAMPTON'PIN-UPS' ON PARADE

The Theatrical Garden Party makes its bow as a Carnival to help the Actors' Orphanage. It's your money they're after, and more than a hundred stars of stage, screen and radio apply the gentle high pressure stuff. Larry Parks and wife Betty Garrett are heading for writers' cramp! Next, starlets who certainly know the A.B.C. of films! And lovely Pat Dainton can mind her p's and q's! Escorting the Duchess of Kent is Noel Coward.

With Joan Dowling and Pat, film-actor of the year, Richard Todd, and, to hitch a wag onto a star, Vic Oliver. The Moustache and Mr. Costa! The Colonel and Mr. Train! Robert Beatty and Cecil Parker hurrying away from it all.

A lot of Cesar Romero and a little Diane Hart. Just now "Close to my heart," seems to be his theme song! Well, everybody's having a grand .... Who's monkeying with this picture? Why, it's the Zoo chimps holding a garden party of their own at the Zoo. It's the first of the year and are they glad about it. Well, are they? Do you know how to tell when a chimp's happy? We'll tell you - later.

Is he jumping with joy or fed-up with the service?

And now for the answer to the jack-pot question. If you want to know whether he's happy, just lift up a Chimp - anzee! Let go? I'm not such a chimp!
