

EAST GRINSTEADTHE PRINCESS THEY COULD NOT SEE

A lovely old country house and children playing in the sun. Busy children in a strange world of their own, in which they know the sun only by its warmth. For this is the Sunshine Home Nursery School for children who can see only with their hands. Here they are taught to find their way through life, to walk confidently and to have no fear. And now comes the Princess they were told would one day visit them, and for her the children show what they can do. To Princess Margaret they are much like other, more fortunate children: to them, she is a Voice.

They knew she was coming - so, they baked a cake.

Even a donkey ride is a big adventure when even the donkey is a mystery. But now see the feat of courage Raymond Knowles practised for the Princess.

A scarecrow guards a present for the Princess. Here Roger Williams grows strawberries - just one little plant. The largest fruit he has carefully tended. Gently the questing fingers find and pluck the fruit and eagerly Roger offers the treasure of his own growing to the Princess he cannot see.
