

CARDIFF

ROYAL FILM PERFORMANCE

Cardiff stages a replica of the Command Film Performance. And here's a fine carload for the fans - Terry Thomas, Lisa Danielli and Richard Murdoch - who doesn't seem to be binding at all.

Beatrice Campbell faces the mike and she's anything but lost for words. Next, welcomed by Mr. A. B. Watts, and complete with husband John McCullum, is Googie Withers.

Valerie Hobson and Montgomery Clift - two household names. All the stars were to make a personal appearance on the stage.

Gloria Swanson looking every inch anything but a grandmother!

Petula Clark was a babe when Gloria Swanson was already world-famous. Now Petula is heading that way herself.

Mind my mike! That's Jack Warner and no blue pencil. The show's in aid of the Cinematograph Trade Benevolent Fund, and stars, exhibitors and friends are out to make it a big success.

The cigarette-holder, the waistcoat, it can only be Terry Thomas.

It looks like being a fine night! Well, it generally is a fine night, when the stars come out, isn't it?
