

SPORTS

Our sports survey starts in Paris as Gipsy Guy Laroche and Rene Ben Chemoul throw each other all over the Cirque d'Eliver. This could go on for hours and there's a lot of sport to see, so over to London where managers are signing up Al Phillips of London to fight Ronnie Clayton of Blackpool. Ronnie's British and Empire featherweight titles are at stake. He won them and the vacant European title from the Aldgate Tiger in their first meeting. Phillips won their next bout (an overweight contest) so this is the rubber. Whoever wins, it looks like being a first-class fight when they meet at Nottingham.

Back to Paris for a quick glimpse. Yes, they're still at it. Keep it up boys, you're doing fine. We'll be back in a flash, but now over to the Alps d'Huez for the international ski contests with the slalom race in full progress. Looks like 'in and out the window,' doesn't it?

Tricky work, and here's number 24 crashing at the turn. And here's the pay-off in Paris.

Over in Bavaria winter bathing's all the rage at Fassing, where they drilled for oil and struck a hot-water spring. Now the waters are boosted as good for rheumatism and last year more than 20,000 went there for the cure. Well, that's another way to strike oil!

Now to Manchester. 20-year-old Brian Statham, the Lancashire fast bowler, is en route for Australia, with club-mate Roy Tattersall. With Brian's fast stuff and Tattersall's off-spinners England hope to pull something out of the Ashes. Arrangements for their long trip were in the hands of Lancashire's Secretary, Mr. Howard ... and now off we go to Carlisle for the third round replay against the Arsenal, as the Gunners kick off.

With Carlisle's sensational and well-earned draw at Highbury in mind, Arsenal are taking no chances. They're playing to take the sting out of Carlisle's all-out attempt to get an early goal and leaving scoring to opportunity.

All square for the first quarter of an hour - then tragedy for Carlisle. A soaring centre deceives MacLaren and Lewis nods it in to put Arsenal one up.

Spurred by the set-back and cheered on by the full-house crowd, Carlisle fight back. The ball comes to Billingham who passes and Carlisle are on the attack.

McCue dashes in, beats Platt for the ball, and scores the equaliser.

At half-time it's one all and Arsenal in danger as Billy Hogan - hero of Highbury - sends over a beauty but Platt is there to clear.

Straightway Arsenal force a corner. Lewis heads and Logic scrambles the ball in to give Arsenal the lead, 2-1.

Now Goring's got the ball, passes MacIntosh, and centres. Lewis gets his head to it and Arsenal are two up.

Now Roper's got the ball. He centres and Goring scores the fourth for Arsenal ... and that's it. Carlisle are out of the Cup, but the Gunners are the first to congratulate them on their fine display.
