"FLYING SAUCERS" ALL HALLOONY!

The American Navy releases a secret which - it is claimed - causes all the Flying Saucer stories. From the USS Norton Sound 35 huge plastic balloons are sent up with recording instruments which radio back scientific data from great heights. When the balloon is nineteen miles high, where the air is very thin, it will swell to a diameter of one hundred feet and look like a saucer. At that height winds often reach fantastic speeds, and the balloons can travel enormous distances. That seems to account for everything - except the tiny little men - so apparently the Flying Saucer mystery is cracked at last. It's all halloony!
