

WORLD SKI-JUMP RECORD BEATEN

At Oberstdorff, near the Zugspitze in the Bavarian Alps, international ski jumpers find conditions perfect and some of the finest ski-jumping pictures ever taken are the reward as cameramen record their efforts.

The world record jump is 443 feet by Dan Netzell of Sweden but the way they're going everyone's hoping to see it beaten. Here goes 18-year-old Teuro Luiro of Finland. 456 feet! That's 13 feet better than Netzell and the record's smashed!
