ROYAL FAMILY AT WEDDING

Her Majesty the Queen and Princess Elizabeth arrive at Westminster Abbey for the society wedding of the year. Eager onlookers saw the Queen and Princess Elizabeth struggling against the gusty wind, which was no respecter of fame or fashion. Over 6,000 had come here to see Lady Caroline Montague-Douglas Scott on her wedding day. Thanks to a convenient gust of wind, which lifts her veil we catch a first glimpse of the bride.

There's nothing like a good wedding to draw a London crowd.

Lady Caroline is the younger daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch; the groom is Mr. Ian Gilmore, son of Sir John Gilmore.

Prince Richard, son of the Duke of Gloucester is one of the pages. His father and mother were among the 1,700 guests invited. Lady Caroline was a bridesmaid to Princess Elizabeth. By the time the ceremony was over, the fickle weather had calmed down, almost out of respect for the society wedding of the year.
