ROYAL VISITS

In Carlisle to see a pageant of nearly 2,000 years of Border history, Princess Margaret (with Miss Jennifer Devan in attendance) visits an industrial exhibition. In the food stores there's a display guaranteed to make most of us pause. It's a small part of Carlisle's brilliant festival week. Nearty workers who are blind display their handicraft.

Now with the Mayor the Princess goes to lunch with the city and borough authorities. Later she leaves to join the King on a well-earned holiday.

EDINBURGH

In Melwan Hall, the Duke of Edinburgh attends the annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science of which he is president. Before his address the Duke receives from Lord Linlithgow the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws of Edinburgh University of which he is the Chancellor.

Now the Duke makes his presidential address.

Reviewing the progress of British science in the last hundred years and urging its continuance, the Duke concludes :-
