

MONTE CARLO RALLY

From Blythwood Square, Glasgow, 69 British cars entered in the Monte Carlo Rally begin their 2,000 mile run. Here's the Sunbeam-Talbot women's team for the Coupe des Dames. Prepared for trouble, too, from the leaks of it. The Lord Provost sets them off and the long run begins. They're all stock cars and face a stiff speed schedule on the roundabout route that ends at Monte.

At Fellestone, the "Dinard" leads the 69 cars, all but one of which got through without loss of marks. Before leading, all face a last check.

Mr. Ground gets busy, whilst nearby his wife hopes this'll be the closest shave he'll have. In the 40 years of the Rally Britain has won only twice, but first to reach Monte Carlo was Bequart in a British Jowett Jupiter.
