

5-8F2401
5-0F2401

52/17

DISASTERS AT SEA

At Penzance, Cornwall, the Liberian cargo-ship "Liberty" blows after three explosions. With 400 tons of coal in her bunkers, the ship looks doomed as firemen from Penzance, Falmouth and St. Just arrive to take a hand. Small portable pumps are run onboard. When the "Liberty" ran aground in a gale, Pathe showed dramatic exclusive rescue pictures. Salvage operations were in hand when the fire broke out, and one theory is that an oxygen cylinder exploded. As our pictures were being taken rescuers were in process of saving the ship's cat.

In the Atlantic off Cape Cod, the stern section of the tanker "Pendleton," (broken away from the bow in a furious storm) rolls helplessly. Thirty-two men were rescued, one was drowned. Nine stayed onboard.

Fifteen miles away our Coast Guard plane skims over the bow section wrecked on a shoal. There were eight men on this part when the storm ripped the "Pendleton" apart ... now all eight are believed to be dead.

X In the Atlantic off Cape Cod, the stern section of the tanker Pendleton, split from the bow in a furious storm, careens helplessly. <sup>35</sup> Thirty-two men were rescued, in a heroic Coast Guard operation, one was drowned and ~~nine are still aboard to man the crippled ship until she can be towed to~~ one on ~~the crippled ship until she can be towed to~~ being a flying Enterprise when Alan Pickens was taken. 69. - ~~the bow section lies~~ 15 miles away

~~port.~~ is wrecked on a shoal - 54

X The Coast Guard plane from which these scenes were filmed now skims over the bow section, fifteen miles away, wrecked on a shoal. There were eight men on this part of the tanker when the storm ripped the Pendleton asunder. All eight are now believed dead.

ORIG K.