

RIGHT MONKEYS!

At Vancouver, British Columbia, two monkeys lead their friend Pete a merry chase round and round their cage as part of their daily routine. Strictly speaking, of course, they're apes, not monkeys, but they certainly make a monkey out of poor Pete. Their keeper, Alan Best, plays an important part in the romp. Gibbons, which come from the East Indies, are the most agile of the apes - in case you hadn't noticed!

It's been a long day for Pete ... couldn't we just sit for a while? Not Gottwald! He still wants to play. But unfortunately, Pete has just - er - petered out!

APES

Fain-Donaldson

- X The gibbons at the Vancouver, B. C., see open doors and act like little gentlemen till their pal Pete the pup pops on the scene. They're fond of Pete, but when a monkey shines up to somebody, friendship tends to be feverish.
- X Alan Best, the keeper, is just a stepping stone on the way to the richer, fuller life for these apes. All this ~~is~~ is way over Pete's head, of course, but he's still in there trying in the Ring-Around-a-Rosie Stakes.
- X Nobody could keep up this pace--nobody but Gottwald the gibbon, that is.
- X It's been a long day for Pete. Couldn't we just sit awhile? Not Gottwald. He still wants to play. Can't ya take it, ya big bum?
- X Don't go away mad. Just go away, please.
