WET-SUN HOLIDAY!

There's no better way to start a holiday than by pushing the boat out, so let's start with barges racing on the Medway ... Bargees are quite attractive these days, aren't they? As a matter of fact, these barges are run as yachts. That's the "Campenia," our atom bomb carrier - let's give her a wide berth and get on to the next section of our story which is Cycle Racing at Scarborough, the "Daily Express" International Road race - twenty laps of the closed circuit, about 50 miles in all.

There's a little of everything in the circuit just to make it more exciting. Covill of Solihull is round nicely but Baily of Nelson Wheelers is out of it.

At the finish it's Gordon Thomas winning, to receive the trophy from the Mayor of Scarborough.

But at Flushing, Holland, Commandos devote their holiday to honour the memory of the dead of No. 4 Commando. The Dutch Defence Minister pays his country's tribute. These youngsters were perhaps not born then but all Holland remembers the liberators. Now Major-General Leicester lays a wreath on behalf of Commandos past and present. Besides the dead of No. 4 Commando, the memorial remembers these citizens of the district who were killed in operations which freed their country from the heel of the aggressor.

And in Manchester, children of the Church of England Sunday Schools celebrate the 51st anniversary of the first Whit Monday procession.

At Overstone Park, Northampton, the Caravan Club holds its annual rally, with hundreds of caravans from all over the country, and it's an ideal holiday for the kiddies. To live out in the open and drink in the lovely scenery - ah! that's the life. Now I wonder what's behind that screen? Oh!

In London it's the "News of the World" British Games at the White City, and the start of the invitation 100 metres. It's a big disappointment that Macdonald Bailey's not running against the American cracks. Now 18-year-old Campbell of America runs into the lead from a slow start. Jack of Britain challenges strongly but Campbell wins a great race.
