WORLD'S FIRST DELTA BOMBER

Still on the secret list are full details of the new British delta-wing bomber, the Avro 698. Powered by four Rolls Royce jet-engines, she made her public debut at the Farnborough Air Show. At the controls today is test-pilot Roland Falk.

This new giant can fly higher, faster and farther with a heavier load than any other aircraft in the world - and is as manoeuvrable as a fighter.

The Avro 698 is the very latest thing from our aircraft designers, who are determined that Britain shall remain unchallenged in this jet-age.
