

DUCHESS IN BORNEO

The Duchess of Kent is welcomed by the Sultan as she arrives at Brunei, in North Borneo, accompanied by the young Duke. Wherever he and his mother have travelled on a journey that has taken them many thousands of miles through South East Asia, they have won the affection of all who have greeted them.

Now on a giant $\frac{1}{2}$ -ton litter, the Duchess is borne through the streets of Brunei by twenty-two Malays of the Royal Household. The Sultan's personal bodyguard are in attendance as the procession continues its triumphal journey. The goodwill that the Duchess has promoted on her arduous tour has done much to strengthen the bonds between the countries of the Commonwealth.
