SPRING FASHIONS

In Paris, Madame Carven puts on her Spring fashion show. Here's a tailored suit in black and white ottoman. But most of Madame's collection goes in for plenty of colour this Spring - like this gay cotton dress.

A lovely spiralled evening dress in black and white. Note the tight-fitting hip line. That's Madame's speciality this year.

Here's a charming all-white evening dress of draped jersey silk. Notice the full, flared skirt. Many of these Spring models were inspired by new designs rapidly becoming the rage in South America. Though that doesn't mean Paris is losing her grip on fashion - she always gives it that extra "something." But Spring to Parisians means - l'amour - just as it does in every city in the world, only more so. And what lovelier than this bridal gown for a wedding in Spring - fashioned for style and beauty as only Paris knows how.
