

53/87.96

TURPIN CHARGED.

Randolph Turpin, Britain's middle-weight champ who lost his chance of the world title recently was accused of assault by Adele Daniels. J. Roland Sala, lawyer for Pat Ward during last year's call-girl trial, represents Miss Daniels in the Upper Manhattan Court. A private duel between rival lawyers results in the charge being withdrawn unconditionally.

Turpin, ably supported by George Middleton his manager, says this:

But Randy's troubles aren't over yet. Miss Daniels is now suing for more than £35,000 damages - about double his total earnings from the Olsen fight.