

53/94

KING BUTESA.

King Butesa the Second, Kabaka of Buganda, is in London to fight the Government's decision to exile him from the little province that is part of the Uganda protectorate. The King's insistence that Buganda should be an independent state (says Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton) violates an agreement signed by the Kabaka who is now the centre of a Parliamentary controversy.
