

FLOODS

BARUCH-Fitzgerald

X An ominous blanket of water -- the calling card of Hurricane Hazel -- covers Holland Marsh, a thirty square mile area near Bradford, Ontario.

after pilot X Rich farmland, crops, machinery lie twenty feet deep, but Holland Marsh, like Old Holland, knows how to fight a flood. A vast drainage program starts -- a battle to reclaim the land.

eat X A thousand homeless receive food -- most of them sturdy settlers from Europe's lowlands, like those who originally reclaimed Holland Marsh.

next X More help comes from Toronto. Emergency supplies, including clothing, are assembled for Holland Marsh, whose valiant residents hope to have most of the land ready ~~again~~ come planting time.
