

b-PFS201

OLD LADY

Weist-Fitzgerald

On her one hundredth birthday, Mrs. Nettie Moulden visits President Eisenhower, showing him the autograph President Lincoln gave her when she was nine. The president writes his own signature for his sprightly visitor who gives him a political tip to run again. Ike says only "Happy birthday, Mrs. Nettie Moulden, one hundred years old today."