T. U. C. OPENS:

As the Trades Union Congress opens at Southport under the presidency of Mr. Charles Geddes, grave issues face the delegates of eight million British workers. Mr. Geddes calls for a national trade-union economic-policy.

Outside the hall - an echo of the Dock strike. And here are the miners' representatives.

Delegates from all callings are at Southport - here's footballer Jimmie Guthrie with Wee Georgie Wood for the variety artists. Tom O'Brien, Dr. Edith Sumnerhill, with the U.S. Labour Attache.

On the left is Jack Tiffin, successor to the late Arthur Deakin. Ex-Ministers Harold Wilson and Hugh Gaitskell talk with Party secretary Morgan Phillips. What about? That would be telling!
