BRASMAR GATHERING.

Thirty thousand spectators line the arena in Brasmar's Memorial Park for the most Scottish of all events - the Brasmar Gathering. This year the Queen and the Duke bring their children for the first time. Lord Aberdeen welcomes the royal family.

If it takes three men to lift a caber, how can one man toss it?

It's easy - just lift up one end, run a few yards, give the thing a gentle heave and over she goes. That was the winning toss by Mr. Grey of Alford.

If you're the kind who likes throwing pebbles into the sea, try this for practice. Winner is Mr. Cameron, from Leckearhead. In Cumberland style wrestling, you must throw the other chap - not yourself!

The royal children enjoy every minute of it - including the Highland dancing. If there were no time limit, we wonder who'd last longest - the piper or the dancers?
