UNDERWATER TEAM

WEIST -- Aareeth

Navy "frogmen" tumble into the Pacific off the California coast in a rugged rehearsal for a combat amphibious assault.

Equipped with aqua lungs and dragging demolition bags, two "frogmen" swim into position to blast underwater defense installations.

Another "frogman" nears the beach, where a sentry is on patrol. With a quick and quiet and deadly attack, he subdues the guard and eliminates another obstacle to the attack.

After the demolition charges have been placed and set, the "frogmen" wait for the pick-up boats.

"Mission accomplished" -- clearing the way for a successful assault!
