

HELEN OF TROY.

The greatest spectacle film for many years - Warner Brothers' Cinemascope epic, "Helen of Troy" - has a Royal Premier at the Warner Theatre, Leicester Square. Among the stars attending is Donald Sinden, with Mrs. Sinden,

And here's lovely Janette Scott, who plays Cassandra, Princess of Troy - the prophetess whose warning of disaster no one would believe.

Next Lee Sharva, dazzling American cabaret star. And Gordon Scott with Betta St. John.

Now the big moment for which everyone has waited - the arrival of Princess Margaret. Lee Morgan, general manager of the Warner Theatre, welcomes her at the entrance and presents to her Sir Reginald Kennedy-Cox, founder of the Dockland Settlements. This premier is in aid of the Settlements and of the Variety Club's Heart Fund for Underprivileged Children. Variety Club President Nat Cohen is on the Princess's left. Now Princess Margaret has a word with Arthur Abeles, managing director of Warner Brothers, and Mrs. Abeles.

The stars of the film are presented to the royal visitor. Here Nora Swinburne, who plays Hecuba; and Stanley Baker, who plays Achilles. Next, Cassandra - otherwise Janette Scott.

These are the people who will be bringing to the screen of your theatre the tremendous story which for three thousand years has been one of the best-loved in the world.

C-1SP201

56/11

-2-

London student's own "Helen", on the right, was chosen in a Warner Brothers' contest. The Princess is seated for the film that you must not miss.