CHRYSLER Safety Test
Roberts

Sept. 6. (Andrews)

A Congressional sub committee, studying highway safety problems, views dramatic tests of cars at the Chrysler Proving grounds near Detroit: Here, an older Automobile fails to pass pace car keeping a steady speed on a hill climb.

In contrast, a 1956 Automobile, with its added horsepower, easily passes the pace car. By way of further demonstration the congressmen see skid test, in which the modern vehicle proves its basic stability. Safety first, & safety always, continues to be the primary goal of America's automotive engineers:
