COLIN COWDREY WEDS.

To St. Nicholas Church, Chislehurst, come Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Evans for the wedding of Colin Cowdrey - who arrives with best man Peter May. Assisting at the ceremony is the Rev. David Sheppard, England's century-scoring parson. In fact, everybody at this wedding seems to be a cricketer - except perhaps the bridesmaids.

And, of course, the bride, Miss Penelope Chiesman.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowdrey pause at the door for the cameras. Did we say she wasn't a cricketer? She's bowled Colin - and he doesn't seem to mind!

Frank Tyson and many other famous names are among the guests - there's Tony Locke - and of course the occasion wouldn't be complete without some Australians - and big Jim Laker to keep an eye on them!
