"WAR AND PEACE" PREMIERE.

Stars and celebrities are arriving for the London premiere of "War and Peace" the screen version of Tolstoy's world-famous novel, and the longest film since "Gone with the Wind". Among the public figures, attending the premiere is the Lord Mayor of London.

John Mills is an early arrival, with Mrs. Mills.

And here's Herbert Lom, who plays Napoleon in the film.

That lovely young star Janette Scott is ambushed by the fashion reporters, who always make a field-day of these glittering events - and talking of fashions, here are eight Italian models adding their contribution.

There's a big welcome for Audrey Hepburn and her husband Mel Ferrer. Audrey plays Natasha, the principal feminine part in the film, and Mel Ferrer plays Andrei, a young soldier with whom Natasha falls in love. A grand assignment for a popular husband-and-wife team.
