

News of the Day
July 15, 1957 Vol. 28-#294

TENNIS

Forest Hills, New York, setting for the professional bow of Lew Hoad, with another Aussie, Frank Sedgman, his opponent. Fresh from winning at Wimbledon, Hoad turned pro for the record price of 235 thousand dollars.

Promoter Jack Kramer has a lot riding as his latest protege swings into this Tournament of Champions.

Sedgman, who hasn't seen much action this year, in the near court.

Sedgman serving - and proving he's still a tough foe.

Hoad serving - and heading for a header!

But Hoad holds the high cards - too many aces - and wins in straight sets.

Lew Hoad joins the pros - and plays like one!