

AMERICANS AT THE PALACE:

The Queen receives 5,000 guests at a Buckingham Palace Garden Party - but it's an unusual one; all the guests are American, and all the men are lawyers. The Royal Family are kept very busy at this unique gathering, which is the highlight of the American Bar Association's convention in London. There's coffee, hot dogs and hamburgers in the refreshment tent, but the food is practically untouched - everyone's too anxious to reach the front row so that he can tell the folks back on Main Street how he met the Queen...

And the general verdict is - "she's a henny!"...