THE LOYAL ADDRESS :

To The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please Your Majesty :

We the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of the City of Carlisle greet Your Majesty with the expression of our unfailing allegiance and devotion to the Throne and tender to You and to His Royal Highness a most loyal and affectionate welcome to this, Your Border City.

It is a great joy to us that Your Majesty has come to join with us in the celebrations marking the 800th anniversary of the granting by

Your Majesty's predecessor King Henry II of our earliest Royal Charter of Liberties. The liberties then granted, and extended by other of Your Majesty's predecessors including Elizabeth I who was crowned by one of our Bishops of Carlisle, have been cherished throughout the centuries and remain today a much prized heritage.

Carlisle has been a place of strategic importance ever since it was the northernmost limit of the Great Roman Empire. Today it stands as a great road and rail centre, the gateway between England and Scotland. Amid all the changes of the centuries it has been and remains today the heart of a great farming and agricultural area.

The Cathedral in which your Majesty will worship and the Castle which is the home of The Border Regiment have witnessed many stirring events in the City's history, some of which will be reproduced before Your Majesty. Today the City treasures its historic past, but is modern in ideas and outlook and is proud of its development and of its many and diverse industries which contribute to the good weal of the citizens and whose products are known throughout the world.

We tender to Your Majesty our humble thanks for the glorious example of unflinching service to the Nation and Commonwealth set by Your Majesty. We pledge to You our unflinching support and devotion in the heavy task of sovereignty and we pray that God will Bless Your Majesty with good health and wisdom that You may reign long and happily over Your Peoples.

Given under our Common Seal this 8th day of July, 1958.

Irving Burrow, Mayor.
