FASHIONS FOR LITTLE CO-EDS!

The schoolgirl set gives a party - and suddenly it's September. For actually this is a preview of back-to-school, and the way they're showing off the look of the 1920's you know it's going to be a stylish semester. A camera cameo in point is the chemise cotton print, right out of yesterday's stylebook, but as fresh as tomorrow - and "dig" the flapper beads.

The "grown-up" cotton rib chemise, simulated two-piece with contrasting ascot. And that's not all - there are more callers for the Lily Bee party - and more of the roaring twenties touch which remains stylish for Fall. The cottons are easy to care for, and everything's washable.

Velveteen and the rich provincial print join the party as designer Jack Spiro assembles his high-style cast for a dance revised with the modes of the twenties. CHARLESTON!

It's simple arithmetic: today's school belles have added style.
