

2-828801
2-F28801
2-828801

59/83.

FLASHES:

Who'd have thought it! drought in Scotland. The bed of Gladhouse Reservoir exposed and crazy-paved by the unprecedented dry weather. Edgalaw Compensation Reservoir has had to come to Edinburgh's rescue, with Gladhouse drying up. Pipes have been laid to connect it with the city's domestic water supply. The Newcastle Water Company lent the pipes. Clashmannan has had to ration water, just providing enough for a tap in the streets. The folk here never thought they'd live to be short of this stuff. Patriotic Scots are dealing with the situation by taking their whisky neat.

17-year old Kenneth Hooton has changed his mind and decided to keep two-thirds of the 6,663 pounds he won on the Pools. He was in a R.A.F. syndicate. Son of a Methodist preacher Ken first said he'd give it all away.

Rosheim, in Bavaria, held a unique championship. Tag-o'-War, fingers only. Through a rope loop each man put his middle finger and pulled with all his might. Contestants came from near and far. It's a wonder they don't pull their fingers out.

Willi Lehner, from Peissenberg was too strong for any opponent.

It's bad enough to be on the losing end without getting the victor in the bread basket.

Willi Lehner won the Cup.

FLASHES

30 Who'd have thought it: drought in Scotland! The bed of Gladhouse 40 Reservoir exposed and crazy-paved by the unprecedented dry weather. Edgelaw Compensation Reservoir has had to come to Edinburgh's rescue, with Gladhouse drying up.
Pipes have been laid to connect it with the city's domestic 60 water supply. The Newcastle Water Company lent the pipes.
Clackmannan has had to ration water, just providing enough for a tap in the streets. The folk here never thought they'd live to be short of this stuff. However, the drought's got to be 80 met, so patriotic Scots are dealing with the situation by taking their whisky neat.

up

84 17-year-old Kenneth Hooton has changed his mind and decided to keep two-thirds of the the 6,663 pounds he won on the Pools. He was in a syndicate at 104 Lindholme R.A.F. Station. Son of a Methodist preacher, Ken first said he'd give it all away.

up

108 Rosenheim, in Bavaria, held a unique championship.
118 ~~Tug-o'-war, fingers only. Contestants came from near and far~~ Tug-o'-war, fingers only. Through a rope loop each man put 123 his middle finger and pulled with all his might. Contestants came from near and far. ~~They must have very tough hands to~~ ~~put all that strain on their fingers.~~ It's a wonder they ~~didn't~~ pull their fingers out. ^{didn't}

up

136 Willi Lehner, from Peissenberg, was too strong for any 146 opponent.

up

150 It's bad enough to be on the losing end, without getting the victor in the breadbasket.

up

162 Willi Lehner won the Cup.