TOWNSEND TO WED:

At a tobacco-millionaire's house near Antwerp, Group-Captain Peter Townsend (44) posed with the girl he's going to marry. Marie-Luce Jamagne, the millionaire's daughter is 20. She accompanied Townsend, as a photographer of his 2-year trip round the world. He was headline news in all countries when it was on the cards that he would marry Princess Margaret.

The engagement is approved of by the girl's parents. No affairs of state stand in the way this time, as they did before Princess Margaret made her official statement that she and the Group Captain would not be getting married. Now Peter and Marie-Luce walked about the quaysides of Antwerp, very popular figures, filmed and photographed wherever they went.

Like the Princess, Marie-Luce was very young when she first met Peter in Townsend. He, it will be remembered, was on the staff of the late King as an equerry. The marriage may take place before many weeks have passed. The happy pair will have the good wishes of all.
