

APE SERVES FISH COURSE.

Think of others before yourself. That's Fritz's motto. Fritz is right - the better looking on. He's all set for the daily chore, feeding the seals. Fritz wouldn't give fourpence for all the fish in the sea, but he's an understanding chap, and if the seals thrive on it, he'll make sure they get it.

Between Fritz and the seals there's the warmest friendship in the whole zoo.

As long as Fritz supplies fish they'll eat it. They've got a non stop appetite. After all, they're big chaps; takes a lot of food to keep them going.

There's a technique for eating fish; don't waste time chewing.
