INTERNATIONAL HORSE SHOW

The Quorn pack were a long way from their native Leicestershire and hadn't a dog's chance of picking up the scert at the White City, but they were a welcome reminder of the link between the hunt and Show Jumping. Very welcome, too, were Princess Margaret and her husband, received on arriving at the International Horse Show by the Duke of Beaufort. As President of the British Horse Society he also received Princess Marina and Princess Alexandra.

Here, Lady Sarah Fitzalan Howard, riding Erskit, in the Queen Elizabeth 2nd Cup.

Yes, over the Water to win the barrage of seven by three-fifths of a second.

Princess Marina congratulated Lady Sarah as she presented the trophy.

The final jump off in the King George 5th Cup. G. Hobbs riding Attila.

Unfortunately Attila dropped a foot at the water, his only fault in an excellent round.

Captain Piero d'Inzeo, on The Rock, could win the Cup now, if he could ride a clear round. A great horseman, d'Inzeo won the trophy four years ago.

Safely over the Wall. A clear round. The Cup's his.

Presented by Princess Alexandra, a much prized trophy to a fine rider.
