FASHIONS AID RED CROSS.

70 models of both sexes took part in a novel fashion show. There was everything for the beach, town and country, all designed for the time when winter's really over, and thoughts turn to Ascot, garden parties and all the other engagements that go with the good weather. Leading London fashion houses, retailers and manufacturers co-operated, and the money went to the Red Cross. And if you're thinking of a spring or early summer wedding, this will interest you.

If you're invited to a Highland Ball, here are some suggestions.

Bedtime, and who's going to hold the baby? But it isn't the infant who takes the eye, is it? Here's to more aid of this kind for the British Red Cross.
