Sweden is helping the children, of war racked Finland...Daily, numbers of kiddies are being brought by air from outlying districts of Finland, to safer areas in Sweden, where kind hearted people have undertaken to care for them. It is terrible to think that these babies should be torn from parents and home because of man's lust for power.

The nites wonder what its all about... May their exile be short.

May they soon be able to return to the land of their brave fathers.

KING GUSTAVE. At Stockholm, King Gustave of Sweden honours his gallant neighbouring country by attending a sporting event between Sweden and Finland, in aid of Finland's Red Cross. It is called a "Bandy" Match, a kind of ice hockey - speedy and thrilling.. The amazing thing about this particular match is that the Finnish War Ministry actually gave special leave to some of their fighting men, to enable them to take part for the sake of the Red Cross...Great sports, the Finns!

BOXING

Talking of the Red Cross, we offer one of the highlights of the Boxing Tournament, in its aid at the Empire Pool Wembley....

Robert Charren, Welterweight Champion of France is doing his best to administer a dose of "shut-eye" to E.Kemp, a Britisher, with a punch like the kick of a horse. This is another instance of the powers that be giving leave to soldiers to take part in sporting events, for Charren is a "poilu" straight from the Maginet Line.... Its a stirring bout, and no doubt each man wishes he was bashing "a certain bloke with a Chaplin moustache(whose a disgrace to his mother). And Charren wins on points.
