

2-FS/FBO
24

FROZEN IN.

Many ships are icebound round the coasts of Sweden... The ice is so solid that Fishermen have been able to catch cod without having to use their boats. One Norwegian vessel was so isolated that she radioed that she was short of food. So the pilot of the ~~Autogiro~~ Autogiro BLUEBIRD undertook to take food to the stranded crew. Rationing is all very well - but its apt to be boring when the only substitute for hard ship's biscuits are --- harder ships' biscuits.

The BLUEBIRD brings a couple of hundredweights of food. So its not surprising that the ship's crew race her to a standstill. (Grub can be a great attraction at times! The Captain welcomes the pilot and ready hands get to work unloading the plane. They'll probably eat the pilots health.