CZECHS LEAVE FOR FRANCE.

Their colours are presented to them by Madama Benes, wife of the Czechoslovakian President. And with that to inspire them the first contingent of Czechoslovakian volunteers leaves London, to join the reconstituted Czech Army in France.

Madam Benes, in the centre, watches them march to the Station. And there are girls in Czech National Costume to wish them ~~good~~ God Speed.

As the train steams out.... the motto of these volunteers is.... "we will meet again in Prague".
